[redacted]
New York City 10009
[redacted]

Dear Randy:

Hi, Co-Star! I recall how important you were for Marsha during those last years of her life. Here's a snapshot I took of the diva on Central Park West at the '87 Gay Pride Parade (that's right, "parade" -not "march"). I thought you might want to add this to your mementoes, and all.

While you may think that the GLF was "a little too radical" for you back then, I think it's considerably gutsy ~~for~~ OF you to be so public and up front about the changes you've gone through since then. You know, Marty Robinson went through an even more startling metamorphosis, and even I am of a much different mind than I was in those glory days.

Anyway, here's to Marsha, and all the fallen queens, and we survivors who carry on.

Regards,

Ronald Ballard

November 25, 1995
New York City