Membership (1). Be at least 18 years of age.

(2) Membership is a contract between an individual and the club for a period of 6 months. During this period a member agrees to pay all dues in the manner agreed upon between the individual and organization. Also, during this period a member agrees to comply with the Club's standards of conduct and any rules established and posted by the Club on the bulletin board. Failure to live up to one's agreement may result in the revocation of membership.

(3) A candidate for membership must first understand the Club's objectives, code of conduct, policies, and operating procedure. A candidate's application for membership will come before the Screening Committee ~~made up of two keyholders and two members~~ and accepted or refused on the basis of the applicant's willingness or unwillingness to comply with the code of conduct.

Special (4) The membership shall consist of three types, Guest, General and Keyholder. Life

(a) Guest member's fees are $5.00 per visit. A Guest member's privileges include the use of the Club's facilities during regularly scheduled weekly meetings. No other privileges will be provided.

(b) A General member's bi-annual fee is $60.00. His privileges are the use of the facilities during regularly scheduled weekly meetings, storage space if desired, the free use of the mailing address, to receive all publications, and the right to vote on all issues concerning constitutional changes and memberships. After an adjustment period of six months a member may apply for keyholder status.

Arranged by contract (c) A Keyholder's bi-annual fee is $120. His privileges are the same as the general member's plus the use of the facilities at any time of the day during the week and also at night during the week. Except during the weekend unless first he notify the resident's before-hand and when special events occur. A prerequisite to keyholder status is the provision of a phone number for direct contact with the candidate and along with hours that the candidate can be reached at that number. It is understood that all communications will be discrete and no revelation of the nature of the club will be made on the phone. why?

(5) Should any general or keyholder member choose to change membership status he may do so without penalty and without reimbursement. However, the six month commitment remains from the time of status change. If for any reason a general or keyholder member finds it necessary to temporarily suspend his membership, he may do so without penalty with a notice of intent to the membership of the Club and by making suitable financial arrangement with the co-treasurers. If such arrangements are not made after 3 months of no attendance the stored articles will become the property of the club to be disposed of in accordance with the members' decision. As a minimum there will be a $5.00 charge for storage of a non-attending member. Fifty percent of the storage charge will be paid in advance if a member cannot attend due to personal reasons that last over a 3 month period.

(6) The General and Keyholder membership has the power by way of referendum to approve or disapprove any proposal. Any policy or proposal may be put to a referendum at the request of a General or Keyholder member. All changes involving constitutional changes, must be voted upon by the General and Keyholder membership at large. All proposals and motions involving the initiation of a referendum involving the membership shall be posted on the club bulletin board for a period of no less than 2 weeks prior to the next business meeting. Business meetings will be scheduled as required but no less than one month apart.
