Abstract

This collection contains newspaper clippings, correspondence, organization papers, service paperwork, and documents regarding LGBT persons at A&M and in Bryan/College Station.

Scope and Contents of the Materials

This collection covers the TAMU Gay Student Services (GSS) organization, Gayline, GSS Roommate Locator Service, and campus attitudes toward homosexuality and the LGBT community at the university before and after TAMU officially recognized GSS as a campus organization. Some material dates back to 1976. Other documents go as late as 1990, but the bulk of the contents are from the mid-1980s (1983-1986). This scope of the collection spans the period when the GSS lawsuit for recognition was ongoing to when litigation ended in July 1985, giving GSS official recognition. Media coverage over the issue of gay and lesbian students at TAMU heated up in the fall of 1984 as GSS awaited a new court ruling. Most of the collection is local, given its subject, but there is regional LGBT news, and national entertainment news regarding LGBT persons.
