

Morons On The L.A. Police Force?

Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) Chief Ed Davis recently denounced federal attempts to have the LAPD lower its standards in recruiting new officers.

Speaking to law enforcement groups in Chicago, Davis discussed how his department had refused to comply with government anti-discrimination employment orders. If he complied, Davis said, he would eventually be "kissing a 4'11" transvestite moron" as he handed out diplomas.

Davis' statements were reported in Gay Community News, a liberationist publication issued in Chicago.

A number of transexuals and transvestites commented that, although Davis may not be attracted to them, affairs between police officers and transexuals have become quite common. In Miami Beach last year, the local police department initiated an investigation after hearing that one of its officers was planning to marry a transexual.

Transexuals in some cities have also charged numerous policemen with rape and sexual extortion.