

The Sun - Dec. 29th 1984

Sex-op boys are all set
to be mums

Twenty girls who were born boys could soon be having babies of their own, a top surgeon revealed yesterday.

Sir John Dewhurst, who carried out successful sex-correction operations on the 20, said: "They are capable of having as many babies as they want."

A 26-year-old who spent the first four years of life as a boy has already become a mum in Northampton. She was born with male genitals but doctors later found she was a ~~partner~~ female with womb and ovaries.