

"The Pekin Theatre."

"The Man from Bam has played to full houses during the entire week at the new Pekin Theatre. Saturday night, at the opening, the new playhouse was crowded to the doors and many were turned away because every seat had been sold. Sunday night was a repetition of Saturday night.

Miss Lizzie Wallace is making a great hit singing "Feather Your Nest." Ethel James, a Chicago product, is creating a favorable impression in the part of Prescilla. The Rag Time Ballet has proved to be one of the genuine stage novelties of the season.

L. D. (Slim) Henderson as Jube Johnson, The Man from Bam, has made a distinct hit and his rendition of the song, "I'm So Hungry" is one of the funny singing features of the performance.

Andrew Tribble's impersonation of the part, Sarah Hester Johnson, Jube's deserted wife, is a very clever bit of character acting and goes "big" with the audiences. His singing of the song, "I'm Going To Exist" calls for several encores at every performance.

Another piece of clever character work is the acting of Charles S. Sager as Elder Cushingberry the presiding elder of Darkville. Aside from the fact Mr. Sager has been the recipient of many congratulations for the splendid staging he has given "The Man from Bam." M.
